GHLA Mission & Impact

Greater Hartford Legal Aid represents individual clients before courts and government agencies, and groups of clients in complex litigation. Poverty, violence, and trauma are daily challenges GHLA clients strive to overcome. Their determination and resilience inspire us.

Our Mission of Justice drives us to connect with clients and the community to increase equity and opportunity—to use the law to make a difference.

Strategic Initiatives Address Critical Needs

EVICTION RIGHT TO COUNSEL PROGRAM

In Hartford, GHLA leads the statewide Eviction Right to Counsel Program—doubling our staff providing representation for families facing the devastating consequences of eviction. GHLA lawyers ensure tenants present available defenses and are heard during the court process—always seeking to advance fairness in the system—so tenants can stay in their homes or gain time to secure other housing. Housing is necessary for work, learning, and health.

RESTRAINING ORDER REPRESENTATION PROJECT

GHLA represents low-income applicants in the Hartford Family Court as part of a multi-court Restraining Order Representation Project. Victims of violence face a complex mix of legal, family, and safety issues. Our domestic violence knowledgeable attorneys provide the legal analysis and advice victims need when deciding to apply for a restraining order. For some applicants, a restraining order is just one part of a comprehensive safety plan that also requires community-based resources. Our partnership with Interval House advocates helps victims access the legal protections and safety strategies that victims need.

HARTFORD HOUSING CONDITIONS PROJECT

Hartford Housing Conditions Project takes timely and aggressive action to ensure that Hartford's landlords fulfill their obligations to provide rental housing that is safe, clean, sanitary, and adequate. In the first year of the project GHLA assisted 158 tenants to get illegal, dangerous, or unhealthy conditions fixed and achieved rent abatements where conditions persisted.

CONNECTICUT'S FIRST EVICTION RECORDS REFORM

GHLA led the advocacy to enact Connecticut's first eviction records reform legislation. Renters have extreme difficulty finding safe housing after an eviction has been filed against them—even if the case ultimately was dismissed or withdrawn. The new law requires that evictions that were dismissed, withdrawn, or in which the tenant prevailed be removed from the public-facing Judicial Branch website within 30 days. Records removed may not be sold to or disclosed by commercial purchasers. The law is effective July 1, 2024, but will apply to eviction cases before that date.

GHLA lawyers ensure tenants present available defenses and are heard during the court process—always seeking to advance fairness in the system—so tenants can stay in their homes or gain time to secure other housing.

Community Connection Strengthens Our Advocacy

COLLABORATION WITH THE HISPANIC HEALTH COUNCIL

Our longstanding collaboration with the Hispanic Health Council expanded to include being a community partner in the Council's just-launched Family Wellness Center.

A PORTAL TO JUSTICE

We serve as a portal to justice—legal information, advice, and representation—through outreach and attorney office hours at community partners including Hands on Hartford, the Hartford Police Department Homeless Outreach Van, Hartford Public Library, Open Hearth Shelter, South Street Church, Manchester Community College, and Enfield Social Service Department.

COURT ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR ALL

Our work within communities strengthens our ability to provide culturally responsive legal services. We observed that Housing Court calendar call instructions were only given in English, and that primarily Spanish and Portuguese speaking individuals had been defaulted because they did not understand the announcement. Our attorneys advocated for this vital information to be available to all. The Court now provides recorded announcements in the most commonly used languages in each district and asks litigants to identify themselves in order to receive the full instructions at each calendar call.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE ADVOCACY PARTNERSHIPS

Decades of ground-breaking domestic violence advocacy partnerships continued to address the intersecting issues of domestic violence and poverty, including Deputy Director Jill Davies' keynote speech for the "Sound of Hope" Domestic Violence Awareness Month Event in October:

"When we listen to survivors, they have two goals at the top. One is addressing poverty. Another is reducing violence. But there are significant gaps in what is available and what survivors and their children tell us will make them safer.

Even with this reality...Why hope? Because advocacy is powerful. Advocacy provides the power to help, to change, to get things done. The power of connection, community, of learning, loving and caring. And all of us here today—in whatever capacity—are in some way—advocates."
